

KENT RIDGE HILL

RESIDENCES

“No house should be ever on a hill or on anything.
It should be of the hill.
Belonging to it.
Hill and house should live together each the happier of the other.”

Frank Lloyd Wright
American Master Architect
1867 – 1959

Hillside Address City Living

A hillside address is one that is much desired, yet exclusive.
When one speaks of a hillside home, one thinks of a tranquil luxury haven.
A haven perched upon a vantage point overlooking everything else.
A haven surrounded by lush nature. And in land-scarce Singapore, a haven with a hillside address is extremely rare to find, let alone to own.
You have found your hillside haven here at Kent Ridge Hill Residences.

An aerial view of a modern residential complex, Kent Ridge Hill Residences, nestled into a hillside. The building features a mix of glass facades and dark wood paneling. In the foreground, a large swimming pool is surrounded by lush tropical landscaping, including palm trees and various plants. A wooden deck with lounge chairs is adjacent to the pool. The background shows a dense forest on a hillside under a blue sky with light clouds.

Pure inspiration, pure sophistication

Kent Ridge Hill Residences draws its inspiration from its hillside location and the lushness of Kent Ridge Park. Every thought that goes into the design and realisation, takes into account the surrounding nature. And every detail is imbued with the beauty of nature. Expect nothing less than a modern architectural masterpiece of sophisticated luxury nestled into the hill.

Direct access to Kent Ridge Park

While there are indulgences aplenty here at home, the call of 47 hectares of forest park can be too great to ignore. Enjoy the privilege of having a residents-only access to Kent Ridge Park, with absolutely no compromise on security.

ESCAPE

An aerial photograph of a paved road winding through a dense forest. The road has a yellow center line and white edge lines. Two cyclists are riding on the road, one in front of the other. The surrounding area is filled with lush green trees and foliage, creating a canopy effect over the road.

1 gentle slope

5 minutes to everything

Just turn in from Pasir Panjang Road, and you are worlds away.
As you travel up the gentle slope, a sense of quiet anticipation mounts.
Because your hillside haven awaits at the end of the tree-lined street.
And within nature's tranquil embrace, it is indeed hard to fathom that the vibrancy of the city is just minutes away.

A woman in a black athletic outfit is running on a hill, silhouetted against a bright sunset. Her hair is flying in the wind. In the background, a city skyline is visible across a body of water, with mountains in the distance under a sky with scattered clouds.

Enchanting today, exciting tomorrow

There is just something special in the air that makes this part of Singapore so appealing. Whatever it is, Singapore's South-West has always held a special place in the hearts of many. And it will only get better. Because this will be where Singapore's master plan for a waterfront city three times the size of Marina Bay takes shape.

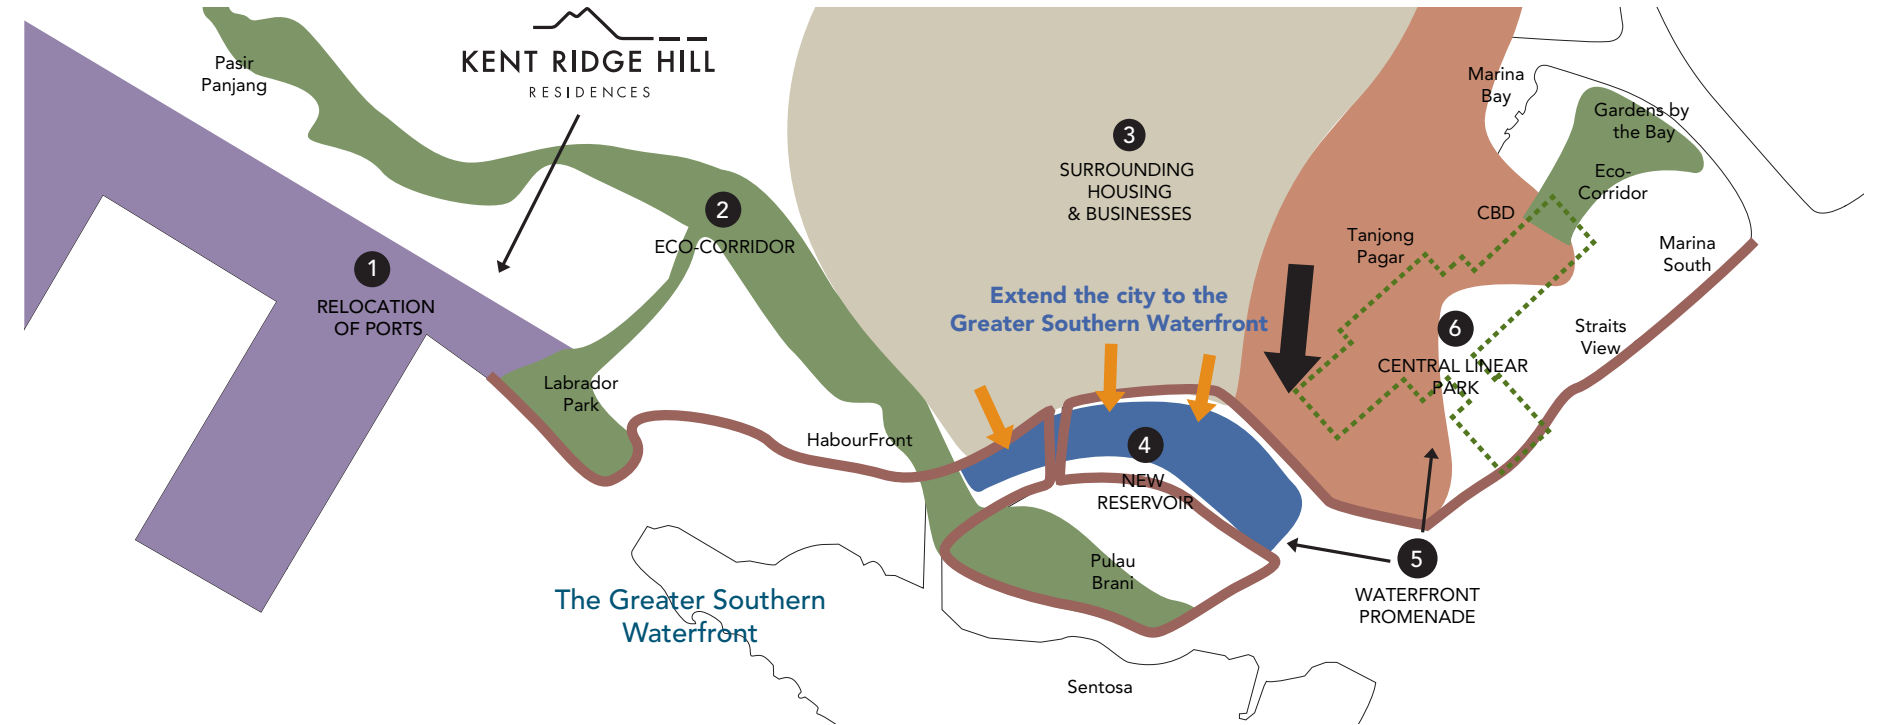

The master plan for future success

Greater Southern Waterfront

Imagine a prime waterfront site, three times the size of Marina Bay. That is the untold potential of Singapore's Master Plan for the Greater Southern Waterfront. With over 1,000ha of prime land, the Greater Southern Waterfront will stretch from Marina South and Tanjong Pagar, all the way to Pasir Panjang.

While still in its initial stages, six ideas have been proposed for the Greater Southern Waterfront. These ideas will take the way we live to a whole new level. They will also take into account Singapore's direction towards an environmentally-friendly society, and one that is future-ready. As exciting as these ideas are, they only serve to lay the groundwork for what will be Singapore's model waterfront precinct for the world.

The time is now

By knowing the potential, scale and direction of the Greater Southern Waterfront, the next step would be to seize advantage of being among the first to be part of it. You will be in an enviable position with a new city rising right in front of you. This new city will be the culmination of Singapore's most ambitious master plan. And you could already begin reaping its rewards once it picks up the momentum.

1 More new waterfront districts

Tanjong Pagar Terminal has already moved to Pasir Panjang. In a few years' time, all port activities will be centralised at Tuas. And the seafront districts of Tanjong Pagar and Pasir Panjang could be home to unique lifestyle concepts that will capitalise on their waterfront location.

2 More nature and recreation spots

To strengthen Singapore's "city in a garden" status, more parks and gardens will be planned. New green eco-corridors could connect the major nature recreational areas to new and existing ones.

3 More room for the Central Business District (CBD)

The present CBD, Marina Bay and its surrounding areas could be expanded into the Greater Southern Waterfront. There could be further growth in bringing work places closer to home.

4 More ways to maximise water resources

As Singapore strives towards self-sustainability in water resources, a new reservoir could be planned for the Greater Southern Waterfront and could well be the next recreational hotspot. Thoughtfully planned canals could also work with the environment, while enhancing the new city with natural aesthetic.

5 More opportunities to be closer to the water

The South-West has one of Singapore's most scenic views of the sea. To take advantage of this, a continuous 30km waterfront promenade could be built to link Labrador Park, Harbourfront, Marina South and Gardens by the Bay.

6 More vibrancy and life

Existing parks could be extended to encourage people to jog, stroll, cycle and simply enjoy more of the outdoors. More car-free pedestrian boulevards could be planned for a more colourful and vibrant street life.
